Subject: MPP/MBA Graduate Student Interested in EPA OAR

Hi Joseph,

Hope this finds you well. My name is Daniel Wohl, and I'm a joint MPP/MBA graduate student at Harvard Kennedy School (HKS) and Harvard Business School (HBS). I'm reaching out because I'm interested in opportunities for graduate students to contribute to EPA's Office of Air and Radiation over the summer. I'm specifically curious about the ongoing process to design the 2026+ Light Duty Vehicle GHG Emissions Standards and have access to funding through school. Would you have a moment to discuss your experience at EPA and whether there could be summer opportunities for graduate students?

A few sentences on my background: Before coming to HBS and HKS, I spent four years at Tesla – two in Finance where I was responsible for all financial planning & analysis and product pricing for the used car business and the residential charging businesses, and two in Business Development & Government Affairs where I ran regulatory credit trading operations (ZEV, GHG, CAFE, LCFS, etc.). While operating the credit desk, I negotiated and executed over 100 regulatory credit transactions, including one with a top five global automaker culminating in a $2B deal. Before Tesla, I worked with the U.S. Senate Committee on Energy & Natural Resources and was a professional basketball player in Israel.

Thanks,

Daniel Wohl
